

‘Hot’ Solution for Business Advisory Team

Workplace interiors specialist, Activ Business Solutions has supplied a versatile and effective storage solution for leading independent business advisory company, Quantuma to facilitate new working practices using bespoke lockers from British manufacturer, Lee & Plumpton.

Quantuma’s expert team advises clients on business transactions, resolving business disputes, mitigating risk and managing operational as well as financial challenges. In order to create a ‘Covid-19 secure’ environment within its London office and to introduce a ‘blend’ of home and office working, the Company has created ‘hot desking’ facilities for its team.

“The lockers have been installed to aid implementation of a hot desking system,” explains Laura Harbon from Quantuma Advisory Ltd. “Staff can be confident that their belongings can be stored in a safe, secure place whilst at work. In addition, it’s a convenient facility for visitors that may need to store a laptop, for example, for a few hours.”

Having previously supplied Lee & Plumpton desking, Activ Business Solutions recommended Liberty Lockers with electronic keypad locks as the solution. Each individual locker is opened with a personal digital code to provide additional security.

Quantuma chose a striking chequerboard design to enhance the visual appearance of the lockers. Supplied with height levelling mechanism as standard, the units are available in a choice of configurations. Manufactured with a 25mm top and base and 18mm side and door panels, Liberty lockers are delivered fully assembled and manufactured for strength and durability.

Michael Lowes, managing director, Activ Business Solutions commented: “As always, working with Lee & Plumpton to deliver a client focused solution was superb. From creation of options in production, through to delivery to site L&P enabled our team to provide the highest quality solution for Quantuma. Both the customer and our team were incredibly pleased with the end product.”

Based in Buckinghamshire, Activ Business Solutions is a leading supplier of office design and interiors including furniture specification as well as installations, relocations and AV solutions.
